Every Epicurean product also is made in the U.S.A., creating good jobs and strengthening the economy.

2016 marks Epicurean's 13th Anniversary. We could not have reached this milestone without a strong network of retailers partnering with us every step of the way. Thank you for placing confidence in our products and for your outstanding brand loyalty. We work every day to provide personalized customer service that exceeds your expectations.

OUR STORY goes back over 15 years.

It seems like just yesterday that Epicurean was a brand new company, marketing quality cutting boards made from excess skate park material. Back in 2003, our owners were riding success in the skate park industry. They had founded TrueRide, a designer and manufacturer of municipal skate parks and ramps, in the late 1990s and already were recognized for their commitment to sustainable business.

Launching Epicurean as a new company to make cutting boards from the scrap was an alternative way to reduce waste. They knew the wood fiber composite used in skate park ramps was durable, non-porous, and dishwasher safe. It had been used in commercial kitchens for years. Even so, no one predicted how quickly Epicurean products would move to the heart of both home and outdoor kitchens, worldwide.

Today, Epicurean cutting boards, kitchen tools, and utensils are at the center of everyday life for both casual cooks and seasoned gourmets. Our signature products are still made from Richlite, the same natural, organic composite that made Epicurean a household name, while adding a line of products specifically designed for camping, backpacking, and outdoor cooking enthusiasts.

Continually developing new designs and innovative products keeps us on the cutting edge.

TOPO BOARDS: BOUNDARY WATERS EDITION

Durable, lightweight Topo boards boast the full utility of all Epicurean products with an added aesthetic nod to northern Minnesota's Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness (BWCAW). The food-safe topographic print comes from a scaled plot centered on the Superior National Forest. Boards are randomly cut from a full sheet map, so printed locations vary.

We are happy to donate 5 percent of Topo board proceeds to Save The Boundary Waters, a coalition built to preserve the Boundary Waters area.
